AU's Bachelor of Business Administration with a Concentration in Healthcare Management will prepare you to take on supervisory and management positions in healthcare settings. You’ll study liberal arts, business and healthcare management at our convenient University Center of Greenville location.

Specially designed for working adults, our 120-credit program can be completed through a combination of evening, weekly classes and supplemental online study. Students may transfer up to 64 credits from previous college work into this bachelor’s degree program.

In addition to gaining a solid liberal arts education fused with Christ-centered values, you’ll study a business core consisting of principles of management, marketing, accounting, economics and computer information systems. In addition to these foundational business courses, you’ll delve deeper into the healthcare industry and analyze the U.S. healthcare system, healthcare management, health law and ethics, health policy and economics and healthcare strategic management.

HISTORY
Anderson University traces its origin to one of the first institutions of higher learning for women in the United States, founded in 1848. The original school was forced to close during the Civil War and did not reopen; but in time a new generation carried on what had been begun at that institution. A group of public-spirited citizens, desirous of having an institution of higher learning in Anderson, offered 32 acres of land and $100,000 to the South Carolina Baptist Convention in 1910. In 1912, the College opened its doors and operated as a four-year college for women until 1930, when it became coeducational.

What we know as Anderson University has throughout its history adapted to the educational needs of South Carolinians and those outside the State seeking a great education in a Christian environment.

In 2005, the school officially became Anderson University as it added graduate programs and reorganized into colleges. The university is in the midst of the biggest period of growth in its history, having doubled enrollment in the past 12 years.

Today, more than 3,100 students enjoy a high-quality education in more than 50 fields of study. Anderson University’s scenic campus, located in the historic district of Anderson, South Carolina, benefits from its proximity to the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and the vibrant city of Greenville, South Carolina. Anderson’s campus has recently grown from its original 68 acres to more than 270 acres, including four new major building projects that have been completed within the past four years.
