The Kim S. Miller Family Enterprise Institute of South Carolina Announces Instel Power Products as a Founding Family

Located in Simpsonville, South Carolina, Instel Power Products provides electrical solutions that are backed by deep product knowledge, a half-century of experience and a well-stocked inventory of new and legacy components from circuit breakers and transformers to fuses, and renewal parts across all major manufacturers. Every member of the Instel team is a highly trained electrical professional with a problem-solving approach when it comes to testing and repairing electrical equipment at your facility.

“We decided to make a commitment as a Founding Family to the Kim S. Miller Family Enterprise Institute of South Carolina because there is a significant need for such a resource in our state,” said William and Matt Jackson, owners of Instel Power Products. “The Institute has tremendous potential. The potential will be realized by bringing family enterprise stakeholders together to learn and share; thus, strengthening family and business sustainability well beyond the current generation. We look forward to the camaraderie, mutual support, personal and professional development that we will experience as a Founding Family.”

Family Business Governance Deep Dive: A Two Part Workshop

We will soon host a two part workshop for those interested in learning more about family business governance. Family business governance plays a crucial role in the success and longevity of a family-owned enterprise. It establishes clear structures and processes for decision-making, communication, and conflict resolution within the family and the business. Effective governance helps to maintain healthy relationships among family members, promotes accountability, and guides the business for future growth. By implementing sound governance practices, family businesses can navigate complex issues, harness their strengths, and adapt to a changing market while preserving their legacy for future generations.
